WASHINGTON, March 4.—Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was inaugurated today as president of the United States, and Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana as vice president.

Under the dome of the nation's capitol, in the presence of a countless, cheering concourse of his fellow citizens, the new president raised a hand toward a prophetic sun that burst through dissolving clouds and pronounced the occasion a day of dedication, not of triumph.

It was an intensely human precedent-breaking inauguration. With members of his chosen cabinet surrounding him, the justices of the supreme court before him, his wife and daughters actually dancing for joy on the platform below, and William Howard Taft, ex-president of the nation, at his side, the new president shouted a summons to all "honest, patriotic, forward-looking men" to aid him, extending the promise that he would not fail them in the guidance of their government.

While the president's concluding inaugural words were ringing in tumultuous waves of applause, the retiring president clasped his hand and enlisted as a patriotic servant in the ranks of private citizenship.

"Mr. President," said Mr. Taft, his face beaming with a broadening smile, "I wish you a successful administration and the carrying out of your aims. We will all be behind you."

"Thank you," said President Wilson, and he turned to shake the hand of his secretary of state, William Jennings Bryan.

There they stood, Taft, standard bearer of a vanquished party, after 16 years of power; Bryan, persistent plodder of progressive Democracy, thrice defeated, accepting a commission from a new chieftain; and Wilson, the man of the hour, victorious, mustering, as he expressed it, "not the force of party, but the forces of humanity."

It was a political picture far beyond imaginings of a few years gone by, a setting that stirred the souls of the assembled hosts whose cheering at the scene seemed actually to reverberate from the distant Virginia hills.

The military and civic pageant that followed this climax of the historic day was more than five hours passing in review. Leaving the capitol hill at 10 o'clock in the afternoon, the last of the marching thousands had not doffed their colors to the president in the court of honor until long after darkness had fallen.

PRESIDENT STANDS AWED BY IMPRESSIVE SCENE

President Wilson stood for more than an hour under the glare of pyramids of brilliant electric lights as he greeted thousands in the long line, among them the host of Princeton students, who, as they passed before him, shouted a hearty greeting that he never can forget.

The music of the bands, the glitter of uniforms and all the enthusiasm in the pageant that had gone before had stirred him again and again, but the sight of this cheering student army was to the president an inspiration that brought cherished memories and joyous tears. Not long after the "Old Nassau" had passed, he returned from the human panorama and entered the White house to wash the wheel of the ship of state.

Ceremonies in the senate chamber which marked the dying of the sixty-second and the vitalizing of the new sixty-third congress, embracing the inauguration of Vice President Marshall and the swearing in of the senators-elect, never were more impressive. Though delayed somewhat by the course of legislation, necessitating turning back half an hour the hands of the clock, the interest was tense.

MARSHALL TAKES OATH AS VICE PRESIDENT FIRST

The procession into the chamber of the members of the house of representatives, ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries in all their brilliant regalia; the chief justice and justices of the supreme court in their member robes; the vice president-elect, President Taft, and the president-elect, side by side, escorted by the members of the congressional inaugural committee, was an awe-inspiring spectacle.

When all had taken their places, and the members of the new cabinet had been seated in the rear of the room, Mr. Marshall took the oath of office administered by Senator Gallinger at exactly 12:34 o'clock. He then delivered his inaugural address, in which he referred to the senate as the "blindness of the governmental harness."

Then began the procession from the senate wing to the great amphitheater

Following the election, a lunch was served and a short musical program given. The lodge has decided to turn over the proceeds of the musical comedy, "The Isle of Kal-te-kee," to the cemetery fund. There will be about 65 parts in the play and a chorus of about 50.

Goudy Answers Patterson's Attack on Conservationists

The following letter on conservation, by Attorney Frank C. Goudy of Denver, was sent to the Denver News as a reply to an editorial in which former Senator Patterson defended the position of Governor Ammons and attacked the conservationists. Mr. Patterson, however, failed to print the letter, presumably in the belief that only one side of the question should be heard.

Hon. Thomas M. Patterson,
Editor Rocky Mountain News,
Denver, Colo.:
Dear Sir:—I have read the editorial appearing in the News of the 26th inst., wherein you take myself and others to task for what you designate or call "our position on conservation." And like Governor Ammons, you go further and apparently question the good faith of those of us who believe in the preservation of the national forests. I believe that federal control of the national forests is better for all concerned than for each of the 18 public land states to have a policy of its own, thereby having no uniformity of action. The matter of protecting the national forests is an interstate question, and there ought to be a complete uniformity of plan in order to fully maintain the forests for the protection of forested watersheds at the headwaters of streams used for irrigation purposes. The farmers of Colorado, in my judgment, are more deeply interested in this question than any other matter of public concern now agitating the public mind.

After serving with you for some two years on the Colorado conservation commission, and learning your sentiments as expressed in the resolutions adopted by such commission, I am surprised at your present attitude. You will doubtless recall that you were chairman of the committee on resolutions, and that your committee reported a set of resolutions which were unanimously agreed upon by the committee, as shown by your report, and as such platform or resolutions are too lengthy to print in an article of this kind; I will limit myself to quotations of that portion of the platform relating principally to the national forests.
"Resolved, That this commission will heartily cooperate with the state and nation in every proper effort for the conservation of all their natural resources and we hold that no plan of conservation should be adopted that is not authorized by law, nor that does not safeguard against monopoly."
Also "That lands more valuable for mining, agriculture and grazing should be taken from the forest reserve as soon as practicable; that we urge upon congress the enactment of a law that will, with the aid of actual surveys, determine the boundaries of those parts of the public domain which should be retained permanently by the government."

TAFT AND SMILE TO PRIVATE LIFE

EX-PRESIDENT GOES TO AUGUSTA, GA.

Returns North in Three Weeks
to Become Professor of Law at Yale

WASHINGTON, March 4.—William H. Taft, public servant since he was 21, said his farewell to public life today and became a citizen of the republic that he has served over the seas and throughout the world for so many years that he has almost forgotten when he enlisted. His goodbye was a smile, a handshake for the members of his cabinet, a courtesy bow to the women friends who braved the inauguration discomforts to bid him and Mrs. Taft "goodspeed" in the union station; a wave of the hand and another smile for the people who stood in the train shed and watched his train pull slowly out for the south.

The last that Washington saw of the twenty-sixth president was the dim outline of a big smiling figure in a frock coat with hair a little awry, standing on the rear platform of a private car as it was swallowed in the curling smoke of the tunnel that leads under the city to Dixie. His last glimpse of the city where four years ago he became chief executive and today a private citizen by the people's will, was from the platform of his car across the broad Potomac to where the Washington monument lifted its gray, pointed peak to the gray sky.

Tomorrow he expects to be in Georgia to rest and play as the guest of the city of Augusta for three weeks. On March 27 he plans to go north again to New Haven to settle down under the elms of Yale to the peace and quiet of life as professor of law. He left with no bitterness in his heart, he told friends, but only with thankfulness that he had been given the opportunity to serve.

The Man Not Forgotten

Absorbed as it was in the inauguration pageant Washington did not forget the man, the retiring president. Although he was hurried in one of the White house cars from the back of the White house down through the Mall and over back streets, hundreds of those on the sidewalks who recognized him, cheered lustily. He was forced to break through the line of march in front of the capitol to get to the train.

VICTORY FOR 8-HOUR BILL NOW IN SIGHT

House Shies at Platform
Pledges, Adjournment
Is Indefinite

By R. M. McCLINTOCK.

DENVER, March 4.—After a hard fight that has extended over many years, that has been an issue at election after election, and that has been carried again and again to the courts, advocates of the miners' and smelter workers' eight-hour bill believe victory is at last in sight.

The decision of the supreme court, holding that the legislature may repeal or amend initiated measures, paved the way for a final settlement of the long fight, and when the senate this morning, by a vote of 26 to 6, passed the Bellesfield eight-hour law on third reading, it became evident that the bill will, in all probability, pass the legislature at this session.

Victory for the eight-hour day was in sight at the last session of the legislature. But the bill then passed, known as the Hurd bill, was referred, petitions for the referendum having been obtained. It is claimed, by the F. & I. and other large corporations, that postponed for two years the adoption of the measure.

Reenacts Hurd Law

In the meantime the corporations initiated what was known as the fake eight-hour bill, and at the November election, succeeded in befuddling the minds of the voters, so that both the Hurd law and the fake law were adopted. Not knowing which law was in effect, the senate asked the supreme court for an opinion.

As a consequence of this opinion the Bellesfield law was introduced, which reenacts the Hurd law and repeals the fake eight-hour law. It is said the F. & I. has withdrawn its opposition.

Ammons Shoves Through His State Conservation Memorial

DENVER, March 4.—That Governor Ammons could, if he would, accelerate the passage of the platform legislation has been proved by the celebrity with which house and senate joint memorial No. 5 has gone through the assembly. It is only two weeks since the memorial was introduced in the house, yet in that time it has received the assent of the house, has gone before the senate, running the gauntlet of that slow-moving body, and today the house, by assenting to the unimportant senate amendments, took final action on the measure.

The memorial was written by Governor Ammons. It represents his views of federal conservation, and is the most bitter attack that has ever been made on that policy. It has behind it every influence that Governor Ammons could bring to bear upon the legislature. It recites "facts" that many of those who voted for the memorial know and confess are misstatements, to put it mildly—and yet, so strong was the administration pressure that scarcely a Democrat voted against it. There was really no organized opposition. The memorial was rushed through with such speed that there was really but little chance to oppose it. In the house a little group, led by Persons of El Paso, made a vigorous protest, but, of course, was overwhelmed in the voting. In the senate there was stronger opposition.

ANOTHER CLASH OCCURS ON BORDER

Mexican and U S Troops Engage in Slight Skirmish:
No Americans Hurt

EACH SIDE BLAMES OTHER

Intense Excitement Prevails
as Result of Brisk
Encounter

MEXICO CITY, March 4.—Continuing to keep the border in a state of tension, a slight skirmish occurred yesterday between Mexican and United States troops at the Agua Prieta garrison and soldiers of the Ninth cavalry. Colonel Guilfoyle and General Ojeda stood pat today.

Ammons, who said that the message to President Wilson, who laughed saying that there had been fewer than 1000 men and that the battle was surrounded in the hills.

Douglas, Ariz., March 4.—(Special) insisting that the troops of the American command began the skirmish yesterday, which was reported this morning between Mexican federal troops from the Agua Prieta garrison and soldiers of the Ninth cavalry. Colonel Guilfoyle and General Ojeda stood pat today.

The American army officer declares that his men will "shoot to kill" if the border patrol is interfered with. The Mexican general asserts that his men did not begin the firing, and that if proven he would execute anyone guilty of beginning the trouble.

There has been no further fighting on the border near here since this morning. The Ninth cavalry patrol has been increased to full force, including the machine guns, stretching from Douglas to Forrest Station.

There is much excitement here. The city authorities consider establishing a special guard. There is an unusual number of Mexicans in the American town and much excitement prevails among them. The rebel messenger arrested here Saturday by United States troops was released today. Messages he carried have been sent to Washington.

Friendly Toward United States

"I have no unfriendly feeling toward the United States, and the shooting by my men across the border was without authority," declared General Ojeda today. "I am sure the American troops misapprehended the situation," continued the Mexican officer. "I would execute any man under my command for firing a shot into the United States. The situation is unfortunate. I deplore it, and shall bring all possible means to bear to bring the guilty ones to justice."

"My soldiers would not fire a shot across the lines unless fired on," asserted Colonel Guilfoyle, commanding the Ninth cavalry. "I know they have not done it. I deplore the matter as much as anyone could, but we will return the fire and shoot to kill as long as the patrol is interfered with. It is up to the other side to stop it."

Hot Combat for Short Time

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 4.—Another skirmish happened at 10 a. m. today between the Ninth cavalry and Mexican soldiers from Agua Prieta, across the international border one and one-half miles southeast of Douglas.

Mexicans to the number of 50 fired on the border patrol at a distance of 200 yards.

In answer to a bullet call, troops E and F and a machine gun platoon of the Ninth cavalry were rushed to the scene.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was inaugurated today as president of the United States, and Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana as vice president.

Under the dome of the nation's capitol, in the presence of a countless, cheering concourse of his fellow citizens, the new president raised a hand toward a prophetic sun that burst through dissolving clouds and pronounced the occasion a day of dedication, not of triumph.

It was an intensely human precedent-breaking inauguration. With members of his chosen cabinet surrounding him, the justices of the supreme court before him, his wife and daughters actually dancing for joy on the platform below, and William Howard Taft, ex-president of the nation, at his side, the new president shouted a summons to all "honest, patriotic, forward-looking men" to aid him, extending the promise that he would not fail them in the guidance of their government.

While the president's concluding inaugural words were passing in tumultuous waves of applause, the retiring president clasped his hand and enlisted as a patriotic servant in the ranks of private citizenship.

"Mr. President," said Mr. Taft, his face beaming with a broadening smile, "I wish you a successful administration and the carrying out of your aims. We will all be behind you."

"Thank you," said President Wilson, and he turned to shake the hand of his secretary of state, William Jennings Bryan.

There they stood—Taft, standard bearer of a vanquished party, after 16 years of power; Bryan, persistent plodder of progressive Democracy, thrice defeated, accepting a commission from a new chieftain; and Wilson, the man of the hour, victorious, mustering, as he expressed it, "not the force of party, but the forces of humanity."

It was a political picture far beyond imaginings of a few years gone by, a setting that stirred the souls of the assembled hosts whose cheering at the scene seemed actually to reverberate from the distant Virginia hills.

The military and civic pageant that followed this climax of historic events was more than five hours passing in review. Leaving the capitol hill at 10 o'clock in the afternoon, the last of the marching thousands had not defied their colors to the president in the court of honor until long after darkness had fallen.

President Wilson stood for more than an hour under the glare of hundreds of brilliant electric lights as he greeted thousands in the long line, among them the host of Princeton students, who, as they passed before him, shouted a hearty greeting that he never can forget.

The music of the bands, the glitter of uniforms and all the enthusiasm in the pageant that had gone before had stirred him again and again, but the sight of this cheering student army was to the president an inspiration that brought cherished memories and joyous tears. "Not long after the boys from 'Old Vassar' had passed, he turned from the human panorama and entered the White house to grasp the wheel of the ship of state.

Ceremonies in the senate chamber which marked the closing of the sixty-second and the vitalizing of the new sixty-third congress, embracing the inauguration of Vice President Marshall and the swearing-in of the senators-elect, never were more impressive. Though delayed, somewhat by the course of legislation, necessitating

the members of the house of representatives, ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries in all their brilliant regalia, the chief justice and justices of the supreme court in their member robes, the vice president-elect, President Taft, and the president-elect, side by side, escorted by the members of the congressional inaugural committee, was an awe-inspiring spectacle.

When all had taken their places,
and the members of the new cabinet had been seated in the rear of the room, Mr. Marshall took the oath of office administered by Senator Gallenger at exactly 12:34 o'clock. He then delivered his inaugural address, in which he referred to the senate as the "linchpin of the governmental machinery."

Then began the procession from the senate wing to the great amphitheater at the east front of the capitol. After Chief Justice White, followed by justices of the supreme court, had entered the inaugural stand, President Taft and President-elect Wilson appeared in the doorway of the capitol.

Their presence was the signal for prolonged cheers from the crowd as they passed.

TAFT AND SMILE TO PRIVATE LIFE

EX-PRESIDENT GOES TO
AUGUSTA, GA.

Returns North in Three Weeks
to Become Professor of Law at Yale

WASHINGTON, March 4.—William H. Taft, public servant since he was 21, said his farewell to public life today and became a citizen of the republic that he has served over the past years that he has almost forgotten when he retired. His goodbye was a smile, a handshake, for the members of his cabinet, a fourth now to the women friends who braved the inauguration discomforts to bid him and Mrs. Taft "goodbye" in the union station, a wave of the hand and another smile for the people who stood in the train shed and watched his train pull slowly out for the south.

The last that Washington saw of the twenty-sixth president was the dim outline of a big smiling figure in a frock coat, with hair a little gray, standing on the rear platform of a private car as it was swallowed in the curling smoke of the tunnel that leads under the city to Dixie. His last glimpse of the city where four years ago he became chief executive, and today a private citizen by the people's will, was from the platform of his car across the broad Potomac to where the Washington monument lifted its gray, pointed peak to the gray sky.

Tomorrow he expects to be in Georgia to rest and play as the guest of the city of Augusta for three weeks.
On March 27 he plans to go north again to New Haven to settle down under the oaks of Yale to the peace and quiet of life as professor of law.
He left with no bitterness in his heart, he told friends, but only with thankfulness that he had been given the opportunity to serve.

The Man Not Forgotten.

Absorbed as it was in the inauguration pageant, Washington did not forget this man, the retiring president.
Although he was hurried in one of the White house cars from the back of the White house, down through the Mall and over back streets, hundreds of those on the sidewalks who recognized him, cheered lustily. He was forced to break through the line of march in front of the capitol to get to his car.

LENNOX VICE PRESIDENT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

W. H. Spurgeon, first vice president of the Chamber of Commerce for the last two years, presented his resignation at a meeting of the directors yesterday, and John Lennox was elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Spurgeon felt that the stress of private business necessitated his retirement.

Mr. Lennox is chairman of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

VICTORY FOR 8-HOUR BILL NOW IN SIGHT

House Shies at Platform
Pledges; Adjournment
Is Indefinite

By R. M. McCLINTOCK.

DENVER, March 4.—After a hard fight that has extended over many years, that has been an issue in election after election and that has been carried again and again to the courts, advocates of the eight-hour day, the workmen's bill, will believe victory is at last in sight.

The decision of the supreme court, holding that the legislature may repeal or amend initiated measures, paved the way for a final settlement of the long fight, and when the senate this morning, by a vote of 24 to 6, passed the eight-hour bill, it was a victory of the first magnitude.

It is now only a question of time before the bill will, in all probability, pass the legislature at this session.

Victory in the eight-hour day was achieved at the last session of the legislature, but the bill then passed, known as the Hurd bill, was referred to the committee on the subject, having been obtained, it is claimed, by the C. P. & I. and other large corporations, that postponed for six years the adoption of the measure.

Repeals Hurd Law.

In the meantime, the corporations initiated what was known as the fake eight-hour bill, and at the November election succeeded in defeating the initiative of the voters, so that both the Hurd law and the fake law were adopted. Not knowing which law was in effect, the senate asked the supreme court for an opinion.

As a consequence of this opinion the Hurd law was introduced, which repeals the Hurd law and repeals the fake eight-hour law. It is said that the C. P. & I. has withdrawn its opposition to the measure.

Ammons Shoves Through His State Conservation Memorial

DENVER, March 4.—That Governor Ammons could, if he would, accelerate the passage of the platform legislation has been proved by the energy with which house and senate joint memorial
No. 5 has gone through the assembly.
It is only two weeks since the memorial was introduced in the house, yet in that time it has received the assent of the house, has gone before the senate, running the gamut of that slow moving body, and today the house, by assenting to the unimportant senate amendments, took final action on the measure.

The memorial was written by Governor Ammons. It represents his views of federal conservation, and is the most bitter attack that has ever been made on that policy. It has behind it every influence that Governor Ammons could bring to bear upon the legislature. It recites facts that many of those who voted for the memorial know and confess are misstatements.
It is a masterpiece of misrepresentation, and the administration knows that it is. A Democratic vote against it There was really no organized opposition. The memorial was rushed

Mexican and U. S. Troops Engaged in Slight Skirmish
No Americans Hurt

EACH SIDE BLAMES OTHER

Intense Excitement Prevails
as Result of Brisk
Encounter

DENVER, March 4.—The news that Mexican and U. S. troops had engaged in a slight skirmish, with no Americans hurt, has created intense excitement here. The American army officer declares that his men will shoot to kill if the border patrol is interfered with. The Mexican general asserts that his men did not begin the firing, and that if proven he would execute any one guilty of beginning the trouble.

There has been further firing on the border near here since this morning. The Ninth cavalry regiment has been increased to full force, including the machine guns stretching from Douglas to Fort Stanton.

There is much excitement here. The city authorities consider establishing a special guard. There is an unusual number of Mexicans in the American town and much excitement prevails among them. The rebel messenger arrested here Saturday at United States troops was released today.
Messages he carried have been sent to Washington.

Friendly Toward United States.

"I have no unfriendly feeling toward the United States, and the shooting by my men across the border was without authority," declared Miguel Alfaro today. "I am sure the Mexican troops must appreciate the situation, and I would execute any man under my command for firing a shot into the United States. The situation is unfortunate. I deplore it, and shall bring all possible means to bear to bring the conflict to a just end."

Hot Combat for Short Time.

DENVER, March 4.—Another skirmish happened at 10 a.m. today between the Ninth cavalry and Mexican soldiers from Agua Prieta, across the international border, one and one-half miles southeast of Douglas.

Mexicans in the number of 50 fired on the border patrol at a distance of 250 yards.

In answer to a hurry call, troops of the Ninth cavalry were rushed to the scene.

PREFERENTIAL VOTING, SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS ARE UP BEFORE OPEN FORUM

The preferential voting system and the Sunday amusement ordinance, both of which will come up before the voters April 1, will be discussed Sunday evening by the Open Forum, at a meeting to be held at the High school auditorium. R. M. McClintock of The Gazette will lead the discussion of the preferential system and will tell of the experience with it in Grand Junction, where it was first tried. The Sunday amusement proposition will be discussed by the Rev. Ira R. Barnett of the First M. E. church, South, and representatives of those interested in the measure.

MANITOU PREPARING FOR RECORD TOURIST SEASON

A white cross on Red mountain and flower beds arranged to represent the emblems of the Knights Templar are decoration features that Manitou plans for the summer season, especially in honor of the Knight Templar convalesce, which meets in Denver. Already thousands of the knights have been booked for local attractions, and the Manitou Hot Iron club is getting ready for them. Twenty years ago a similar novelty gained the town much publicity. Preparations are being made for the opening of the hotels for the tourist season. The Cliff house will open March 14, a large Raymond-Whitcomb party being booked then for three days. Extensive improvements are being made at all of the hotels, and an enlargement of the Iron Springs pavilion already is under way. The Hot Iron club, Manitou's boasting body, is planning to issue an advertising booklet describing the attractions of the town.

Friends of Dead Man Say Killing Not Accidental, Warn Bandy to Clear Out

Word was received here yesterday that H. H. Bandy, a ranchman living 20 miles northeast of Kiowa, had been warned to leave the country by neighboring ranchmen, on the grounds that the death of T. F. Franklin, who was killed accidentally by a bullet from Bandy's rifle, was "not accidental." The two men were hunting last Sunday, when Bandy accidentally shot his friend. He was freed by a coroner's jury, but several of the ranchmen, friends of Franklin, decided to take action and notified Kiowa officials that it would be foolish for Bandy to remain alone on his homestead. Bandy is now in Kiowa, where he will remain until the trouble blows over.

C. & S. CASE POSTPONED

A postponement to next Thursday, March 14, has been taken by the state railway commission of the hearing of the appeal of the Elbert county chamber of commerce to the commission, to compel the Colorado & Southern railway to reopen its line between Colorado Springs and Elizabeth. The Colorado Springs Chamber has taken an active interest in the case, since the resumption of operations would open up the territory east of this city and allow the farmers to bring their produce directly here.

MRS. COATES GRANTED ALIMONY, BUT FAILS TO GET A NEW TRIAL

The petition for a new trial of the divorce suit of Charles H. Coates against Mrs. Evelyn R. Coates, in which Coates last week was granted a divorce by a jury in the district court, was denied by Judge W. S. Morris yesterday, and Coates was given the custody of their two small sons. Yesterday afternoon Judge Morris awarded Mrs. Coates alimony in the sum of $50 a month, as well as an attorney fee of $50. Attorneys for Coates excepted to the amount of the alimony, and counsel for Mrs. Coates excepted to the decree of divorce and filed notice of appeal to the state supreme court. They maintain that Coates is not a legal resident of Colorado Springs, and that for this reason the local court has no jurisdiction in the case. Yesterday morning was the first time Mrs. Coates had met her children for nearly a year.

Stanford Professor to Conduct Archaeological Institute Here Shortly

Word has been received from Mitchell Carroll, secretary of the Archaeological Institute of America, which held a successful summer school here last summer, that Professor W. F. Fairclough of Stanford university, one of the best known archaeologists in America, will be in charge of the second institute, which will be held in Colorado Springs this summer. Professor Wilson, who died in Washington February 23, had charge of the program here last summer, and the affair was one of the most successful educational ventures attempted in the region. Members of the local society have received word of Professor Fairclough's appointment, but neither the dates of the school nor the program have been announced.

Raymond R. Robbins Is Elected a Director of the C. S. National Bank

Raymond R. Robbins was elected a member of the board of directors of the Colorado Springs National bank at a directors' meeting yesterday morning. He fills the vacancy caused by the death of his brother, the late B. G. Robbins. Mr. Robbins was closely associated with his brother in business for 10 years, and is administrator of his estate, as well as guardian of his brother's son. He has always made his home in Colorado Springs, and has the esteem and confidence of all who know him. The late B. G. Robbins had been a director of the Colorado Springs National bank since it began business, six years ago yesterday.

People to Vote April 15 on Closing Cheyenne Ave.

Petitions for placing before the voters at the second election, April 15, the question of the closing of Cheyenne avenue to give the entire block bounded by Nevada, Boulder, Weber and Platte over to the High school plant, were put in circulation yesterday. This question was the source of much discussion last summer, and the Civic league was opposed to the closing of the avenue. The situation was finally compromised by the city council by the adoption of an ordinance keeping the avenue open through the block secured for educational buildings, but cutting its width down from 140 to 80 feet. Plans were drawn for the additions to the High school and bids have been advertised for by the board of education on this basis. The plan which has been adopted calls for annex directly north of the present High school building, and a mechanical building in the angle of Boulder street and Cheyenne avenue, the corners of the two buildings, which are separated by the roadway, to be about 55 feet apart. These buildings will be the first to be erected, but the plans call for the eventual construction of a west annex to the present building, a science building and an auditorium, the two latter buildings to front on Nevada avenue. Should the ordinance be submitted April 15 go through it will not interfere with the plan as it contemplates a footpath cutting the quad angle diagonally as the avenue now does. The path will be a continuation of the footpath through North park.

DISTRICT DOCKET REVISED

Owing to the illness of a number of lawyers and witnesses, the district court docket underwent considerable change yesterday morning. The Olney-Leach contract suit was continued until Thursday, owing to the illness of Attorney D. P. Stricker, one of the leading counsel. The case of the People vs. Blanche Peter was postponed on account of throat trouble suffered by Assistant District Attorney Burns, acting while District Attorney Purcell is out of the city. The suit of Edward Homen against A. Smith has been postponed to March 18, owing to the fact that the two principal witnesses, J. K. Vanatta and A. A. Hilton, are ill. Judge Morris spent all of yesterday morning revising the docket.

NEW TRIAL FOR WOMAN WHO SUED ANTLERS FOR FALL FROM CAMP CHAIR

Holding that the instructions of the trial judge were unfair, the state supreme court has reversed the verdict given for the defendant in the local district court in the suit of Adelaide E. Burckmore vs. the Antlers Hotel company, and has remanded the case for a new trial. Mrs. Burckmore was suing for $20,000 damages for injuries received three years ago, when a camp chair on which she was seated in the dining room of the hotel collapsed, letting her fall to the floor. The case was tried before Judge Morris in the local district court and the verdict was for the hotel company. The part of his instructions to the jury, to which Mrs. Burckmore's attorneys objected, and which the supreme court has held were unfair to the plaintiff, was to the effect that the hotel company was not liable unless the officers of the company, even if they were in New York, knew of the condition of the chair. J. K. Vanatta of this city is the attorney for Mrs. Burckmore.

MUSICAL CLUB WILL CONTINUE ITS CONCERTS

The free concerts which have been given at the Princess theater for the last three Sundays by the Colorado Springs Musical Club orchestra will continue. Such was the decision of the committee which met yesterday afternoon. While the concerts have cost the club something more than a hundred dollars, last Sunday's audience was such an encouragement that it was thought advisable to continue the concerts. Because of a pressure of other duties, J. A. Jeancon, conductor of the orchestra, has been compelled to give up his place with the orchestra but Edwin Dietrich has been secured to take the leadership. Professor Dietrich was a member of the orchestra and played first violin under Jeancon. The club will give its next concert next Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the Princess theater. The performances will continue through March and will end in April, when the park concerts begin. The club will give a rendition of "Mikado" the third week in April to make up any deficit caused by the free Sunday concerts. Rehearsal on this has been going on since Christmas.

C. O. D. PARCEL POST DELIVERY AFTER JULY 1

A collect-on-delivery will be added to the parcel post department of the postal service July 1, according to an order entered several days ago by Postmaster General Hitchcock, according to word received here. Under the approved regulations a parcel bearing the required amount of parcel post stamps may be sent anywhere in the country, and the amount due collected from the receiver and remitted to the postoffice department. A fee of 10 cents will be charged for this service.

Two District Judges, Former County Judge Act at Same Hearing

Two district judges and a former county judge were within three feet of each other for some time in the second division of the district court yesterday afternoon, each acting in a different capacity in the trial of the case at hand. The three were Judges Shear and Morris, and former Judge Robert Kerr. Judge Shear presided at the trial, Judge Morris was one of the witnesses and Judge Kerr was counsel for one of the parties to the suit. The testimony, however, was not all intensely legal. Part of it related to what type of tin cans the Rocky Mountain Can company intended to make when it first incorporated, several years ago. The case is that of Myers vs. Dillon. Judge Kerr representing the defendant, Dillon holds title to some buildings through a deed of trust from the Rocky Mountain Can company, and the validity of this deed is being tested in the suit. Judge Morris was presiding at another case in division one of the district court when his turn came to go on the stand in the Myers-Dillon case, and he temporarily suspended proceedings in his case while he gave testimony before Judge Shear. He was called on to testify because he had been consulted at the time the articles of incorporation of the Rocky Mountain Can company were drawn up.

INTEREST INCREASING IN THE ART EXHIBIT

Interest is increasing in the art exhibit at the postoffice building. The Colorado Springs Art society is making every effort possible toward bringing the world's most famous paintings to this city, and is meeting with good success. One of the paintings now on exhibition, "The Herring Dipper," was brought here from the Winter Academy of New York. The painting represents the fisherman casting away the small fishes and retaining the larger ones. It is the property of the Chicago Institute of Art. Other pictures which are creating much interest are "The Old Wharf" and "A Rainy Night in Washington." Besides these there are many other paintings of almost equal interest. This exhibit is open free of charge to the people of Colorado Springs, and was made possible by the liberal support of the art society members. Any person is eligible to membership on the payment of the membership fee, $2. The organization is to be congratulated on being able to display such excellent works of art here as compose the exhibit now on display, and it is well worth seeing. The exhibit will remain here until tomorrow, and the club urges all lovers of art to view these famous paintings before they are taken away.

Miss Correll, 16, and Miss Worrell, 17, to Wed Heaston Brothers

Two marriage licenses, in which parental consent was required for three of the four persons concerned, were issued by County Clerk Sheldon late yesterday afternoon. All the parties are from Yoder, east of the city. They are: John V. Heaston, aged 17, and Lavorna Correll, 16; Ralph H. Heaston, 22, and Clara E. Worrell, 17. The two Heaston brothers and their father, Alonzo A. Heaston, came here for the licenses, bringing with them the written consent of the parents of the two girls. These written consents were not sworn to, however, and the problem was put up to the county clerk finding some means of accepting them or else of sending the Heastons on a long trip, back to Yoder to get the parents of the girls and bring them to this city. He finally decided that to require them to make the trip would be imposing a hardship, and accepted the documents after the father of the boys had sworn that they were authentic. Heaston also gave his consent to the marriage of his son, John, the parents of Miss Correll are Samuel and Mary E. Correll, and those of Miss Worrell are C. M. Worrell and Nettie Worrell.

CHAMBER COMMERCE ON R. R. LEGISLATION

Urges Adequate Public Utilities Commission to Consider Various Points Raised in Bills Now Pending

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday adopted a report of the special committee on railroad legislation, and passed resolutions against certain railroad measures now before the state legislature. The resolutions point out that the meritorious objects of these bills can best be attained by an efficient public utilities commission, and urge the legislature to pass a law establishing an adequate commission of this kind. The special committee consisted of M. B. Hurry, chairman, J. L. Bennett, L. J. Perry, E. J. Ulrich and J. E. McIntyre.

The resolutions adopted by the directors follow:

The Resolutions.
Be it resolved, That the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, acting through its board of directors, is opposed to the enactment of the following bills now pending in the general assembly of the state of Colorado, to-wit:

1. S. B. No. 238, known as the full crew bill.
2. S. B. No. 28, known as the headlight bill.
3. H. B. No. 174, prohibiting Sunday work.
4. H. B. No. 155, relating to the qualifications of railroad men.
5. H. B. No. 159, requiring the running of light engines with an absolute block.

6. H. B. No. 144, requiring the installation of the automatic block and elimination of the manual block system.
7. H. B. No. 177, requiring two regular pay days each month.
8. H. B. No. 225, prohibiting the backing up of locomotives.
9. H. B. No. 159, providing the maximum rates for passenger fares.

The grounds for opposing such legislation are that such laws would be prejudicial to the best interest of the people of Colorado. That the different conditions under which railroads must be operated in different parts of the state are not and probably cannot be fully recognized and considered in such measures.

That the features of all of said bills which are meritorious and adapted to the traffic and conditions existing in some parts of the state, can all be best worked out and adapted through an efficient public utilities commission.

Be it therefore, further resolved, That we urge the defeat of the said bills and the passage of a law establishing an adequate public utilities commission.

The Antiscapling Law.
Be it resolved, that the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, acting through its board of directors is opposed to the enactment of House Bill 276 and Senate Bill 249, and to any measure that will repeal expressly or by implication the existing antiscapling law of this state.

The grounds for opposing such legislation are:

1. That scapling is profitable only when excursion and tourist rates are favorable to the traveling public.
2. That scapling encourages false hood and deceit, when the railway ticket is sold at a reduced rate in consideration of its being used for a round trip by the original purchaser.

3. That the repeal of the existing antiscapling law would result in less favorable tourist and excursion rates to Colorado, and materially diminish the tourist business in this state, thereby affecting the prosperity of the state without any compensating return to the people at large.
4. That, under the existing laws, rules and regulations the purchaser of a round trip ticket may obtain a refund on the unused portion of such ticket equal to the difference between the cost of the entire ticket and the regular one-way fare.

Following, in full, is the report made by the directors by the special committee:

Committee's Report.
To the board of directors, Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce:

Your committee, appointed to investigate and report on the bills introduced in the present legislature of the state of Colorado regarding railroads, hereby makes this report in addition to the resolution which it has adopted concerning the following bills:

House Bill No. 238, known as the full crew bill.
Senate Bill No. 28, known as the headlight bill.
House Bill No. 174, being a bill providing for one rest day in seven.

House Bill No. 155, relating to the qualifications of railroad men.
House Bill No. 159, relating to the running of light engines not protected with an absolute block.
House Bill No. 144, requiring the establishment of an automatic block system.

House Bill No. 177, requiring two regular pay days per month.
House Bill No. 225, to prevent the backing up of locomotives.
House Bill No. 159, relating to rates.

In considering these bills your committee has given attention only to the important requirements and principles and has not gone into the questions of the constitutionality of any of the measures. It is tried to consider the rights of the public, the rights of the employees and the rights of the employers.

It considered the reasons submitted to it by the employers, as shown by various correspondence received. It then had some responsible and experienced railway trainmen and conductors representing three of the railroads running into Colorado Springs come before it and explain various features of the bills, particularly the requirements thereof purporting to increase the safety of the public and the safety of the employees.

First—The Full Crew Bill.
The objection on the part of the employers is to three brakemen (a flagman is considered a brakeman in this report) on freight trains of twenty-five or more cars, and two brakemen on passenger trains of three cars or more, and a conductor in addition to engineer and fireman upon an engine.

running light. The employers insist that the extra brakeman in each case and a conductor on the engine running light is an extra expense, which is no doubt true, and adds nothing to the safety of the public. This the employers deny. We conclude that there are some instances particularly on passenger trains of four cars or more, when the extra brakeman would be of service in safeguarding the public, particularly in cases of breakdowns, doubling, pulled out, draw heads, etc., but that considering the railroad conditions of this state as a whole, such a law, general in its scope, should not be enacted at this time, that in the instances where the safety of the public requires the extra man a properly constituted and empowered public utility commission could and should require the extra man.

Second—The Headlight Bill.
Both the employers and employees condemned the bill requiring the use of a headlight of 1,200 candlepower, measured without a reflector. We believe that the electric headlight generally in use are sufficient and that a public utility commission can make the proper regulations regarding this curve with the proper variations to meet the various conditions under which our railroads operate. We believe the requirements of this proposed bill are entirely too stringent.

Third—Qualifications of Railroad Men.
Both employers and employees condemned most features of this bill. The requirement that affidavits regarding men be filed with brotherhoods instead of public officials or boards is certainly novel. We see no more reason for such filing with private bodies than filing the records granting licenses to physicians with an association of physicians. We think the bill is utterly wrong in principle. We believe that reasonable experience is necessary before men should become railroad engineers and conductors, and that a proper public utility commission can make proper rules and enforce them governing this phase of railroad service.

Fourth—Running Light Engines Without Protection by an Absolute Block.
Both employers and employees condemned this bill as unnecessary and as doing away with the existing block which now works satisfactorily, so the employees stated.

Fifth—Establishing the Automatic Block System.
Both the employers and employees condemned this bill, which requires the establishment of an automatic block system on all roads. The railroad officials claimed that such a system would be better protection than the manual block system. The employees did not agree in this, and stated that the automatic system was more safe than the manual block system. In that it was less apt to go wrong, or, if it got out of order, it automatically showed the danger signal. In other words, the artificial machine seems to be more correct than the human machine. But the men thought it should not be generally applied to the state, and that the additional safety secured was not sufficient at this time to warrant the enormous expense caused by such law. It affects wrecks caused by collisions only, not those caused from other causes. Again, a proper public utility commission, with proper powers, can get all the advantages of such a system so as to properly protect the public without incurring the enormous outlay caused by this law.

Sixth—Running Locomotives Backwards.
Here the employers and employees differed. As a whole, we believe the reason given by the employers in favor of the bill were of more weight than those given by the employees against it. The danger to both the employees and the public caused by locomotives proceeding backward is a tender ahead, obstructing the view of the engineer of the track, causing coal dust and dirt to blow directly into the face of the engineer, and the entire blood supply, the tissues, the mucous surfaces, the bones of the joints, the mouth and throat, the hair and scalp, the eyesight, all have recovered their normal state of health by virtue of this wonderful S. S. S.

Seventh—Requiring Two Regular Pay Days Per Month.
This bill affects all corporations, but we considered only its effect on railroads and their employees. Neither men nor officials desired such a law. The men condemned it even more than the officials. We think such a bill unnecessary, and that in the case of railroads it would cause useless, additional bookkeeping expense for which neither men nor public get any good whatever. When a proper rate is fixed every man's expense must be considered, and expenses without return in safety or service are useless.

Eighth—The One-Day-Rest-in-Seven Bill.
This is properly a one-day-rest-in-seven bill, a regulation of work-on-Sunday bill, as the railroads classified it. It practically applies to all labor. Our inquiry was limited to railroad conditions. The men stated that they did not always get one day of rest in seven, but were generally able to range for layoffs. We understand that most lines of railroad service outside of the train service provide for rest days. The men that we interviewed did not favor this bill, and recommended that it be amended to except railroads.

Ninth—Regulation of Rates.
We neither made nor expect to make any investigation whatever from which we could have any opinion of any value as to the proper railroad rates. The mere statement of such a subject shows that it is a matter for a committee of this kind cannot consider it. We believe the fixing of rates by legislative enactments is fundamentally wrong; that the primary purpose of the public utility commission is to fix rates. We believe the enactment of such a law would bring a great amount of litigation in both our state and federal courts, and that these rates, if laid out as they are reported in these courts by evidence which a public utilities commission could properly collect. We do not pretend to know whether or not our present rates are fair or unfair, but we do not believe these rates should be altered except after proper investigation made by a proper utility commission.

Tenth—Bill Providing for a Public Utility Commission.
We have not yet given the bill providing for a public utility commission sufficient consideration to make a recommendation. We understand that changes are being constantly made in the senate. We favor the adoption of a proper public utilities bill. We recommend that the law prepared by the National Civic League be considered, and, if sufficient, be adopted, but we have not yet examined it, and will, if desired by your board, give this matter further attention.

Enclosed with this report is a report, together with any resolutions adopted by your board, be sent to the speaker of the house, the president of the senate and the members of the legislature from El Paso county.

Colorado City DEPARTMENT APPROPRIATION FOR FISCAL YEAR $31,000

The Colorado City council, at an adjourned meeting last night, passed the appropriation ordinance for the next fiscal year, which begins April 1, and ordered that two propositions be placed on the ballots to be voted on at the election April 1. The appropriation ordinance totals $31,000, the largest single item being $4,500 for street lighting. The appropriations in detail are:

Salaries	$3,720
Street department	4,500
Light	4,500
Police department	3,990
Cemetery	2,500
Police department	3,500
Public grounds and buildings	1,500
Elections	1,300
Printing and ordinances	250
Library board	1,200
Sewers	1,200
Miscellaneous	2,000
Interest on unpaid city warrants	1,200
Barr condemnation suits	1,000
Total	$31,000

The adoption of the charter does not in any way affect the passing of the appropriation ordinance for the fiscal year, as the instrument provides that the fiscal year shall continue as at present, although it may be changed by ordinance.

The resubmission of the antiscapling question and the proposition to amend the charter so that the taxes during any fiscal year shall not be more than 20 mills, were ordered put on the ballots.

THE DAY OF ARSENIC AND MERCURY GONE FOREVER.
S. S. S. Dr. Swift's Laboratory for Blood Diseases.

In one of the greatest private laboratories in all the world there is prepared a remarkable remedy known as S. S. S. And an army of men and women bear testimony to its marvelous effect in curing blood diseases.

There is not a stage or condition of any form of blood disease but what a similar case has been completely and radically overcome, utterly banished, and the entire blood supply, the tissues, the mucous surfaces, the bones of the joints, the mouth and throat, the hair and scalp, the eyesight, all have recovered their normal state of health by virtue of this wonderful S. S. S.

And these facts have been put to the most severe tests: they have withstood the sternest test of all—the test of time. They have met the most rigorous, the most searching of all blood tests—the scientific and accepted Wasserman test.

And these wonderful results have been accomplished by a scientific method that has completely overthrown the vicious and destructive use of mercury, iodine of potash, arsenic and all other mineral poisons.

A New Era Dawns.
To what extent articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, neurasthenia, and pernicious anemia owe their origin to the use of mineral drugs is a matter of speculation, but it is generally agreed that they are legion. And yet the wonderful S. S. S. not only drives the impurities out of the blood, but repairs the function of nutrition throughout the body that the destructive influences of even the mineral drugs are overcome. The materials of which S. S. S. is made, are gathered by expert botanists and the great Swift Laboratory has been visited and commended by men of national fame, both in statesmanship and in business life.

Not one ounce of drugs enters this famous laboratory. The medicine is prepared from the native roots, the virgin elements are extracted by a comprehensive and extremely scientific process, and thus is given to the world the greatest antidote for blood diseases to be found anywhere on the face of the earth.

An Institution of Learning.
But the Swift Laboratory does not stop at the preparation of S. S. S. It has resolved itself into an institution for the instruction of those who need guidance; to whom the knowledge and medical wisdom of world-wide experience is priceless and yet can be had for the asking. All who are in any way afflicted with blood disease, eczema, lupus, catarrh, rheumatism, prostatic, mucous patches, copper spots, falling hair, fading eyesight or any other external or internal effect of blood disease, are urged to at once procure a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, department or general store and immediately fill out the coupon on this page for private, personal and confidentially assisted instruction and advice for successful home treatment.

This matter is so important and of such great value that it should be attended to at once. But of all things do not permit anyone to sidetrack you on to any of the myriad of blood tonics. Ask for S. S. S. or send for it, and be sure you get S. S. S.

Dear Sirs: I am in receipt of your letter of recent date and appreciate same. I was thinking some time ago that I would like to be able to reach some of the unfortunate who do not know what your remedy will do, and advise them of it and steer them clear of those who else them up, and out what they are worth, and what they are making, and then, as so often happens, proceed to get it until the victim gives up in despair.

I wish you could see a photo of me now and one a year or so ago. I tell you the treatment I took nearly ruined my stomach. And I am willing to write to anyone you refer to me and will be glad to feel like having my name and photograph published.

Thanking you very kindly for what you have done for me, I am,

NEW YORK DOCTORS SAY DR. FRIEDMANN MUST HAVE LICENSE

NEW YORK, March 4.—Whether Dr. F. F. Friedmann will be allowed to make a demonstration of his tuberculosis treatment in this city rests with the board of health, he announced today. The German physician has been forbidden to practice here by the board of censors of the New York Medical society without a special license, and this, he indicated, he had applied for.

"This matter is in the hands of the board of health," he said. "The health commissioner has promised to make the decision today, if possible. He will call me in which hospital the first demonstration of the treatment of the patients may be made."

Dr. Friedmann's rooms were attacked today with an accumulation of letters and telegrams from all parts of the country from persons seeking his treatment.

his son, Russell Brinegar, and daughters, Miss Myrtle Brinegar, Mrs. Joseph Foushee and Mrs. George Carr. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Frank Harris, 509 North Fourth street, went to Denver yesterday, where she will attend a meeting of the Past Matrons of the Eastern Star.

The body of Miss Mary I. Hice, who died suddenly from an attack of apoplexy, Sunday night, was taken to Kansas City, Mo., for burial yesterday.

The body of Mrs. Sarah Kahler, who died of pneumonia in a Colorado Springs hospital yesterday, was taken to Morrison, Colo., yesterday for burial.

Garment Workers Strike IS MARKED BY VIOLENCE
BOSTON, March 4.—Disturbances in connection with the strikes of workers on men's and women's clothing continued here tonight and today. A number of persons were injured, some severely. Nearly a score of arrests were made, most of the prisoners being women and girls. A new plan of picketing arranged for tomorrow, whereby striking employees of each shop are to patrol that place, has led the police to make additional preparations to guard against trouble.

A further extension of the strikes of garment workers is expected within a few days, when 3,000 cloak makers threaten to leave their machines, following their vote a few days ago to strike, the union of that trade recently organized a strike committee which will begin its work tomorrow.

UGH! NOT CALOMEL, OIL OR SALTS, BUT DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Give your stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels a thorough cleansing without gripe or nausea. Ends headache, biliousness, indigestion and constipation.

This wonderful fruit laxative acts as a liver and bowel cleanser—tonic—natural and gentle—no gripping. It is delicious—no dreading. It is positive and prompt—no waiting. If your stomach is sour and filled with wind, gases, your head aches, or you are bilious, nervous, dizzy, half sick, your tongue coated, your thirty feet of bowels clogged with waste not properly carried off—don't wait. Surely take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, and in the morning all constipated waste, sour bile, gases and poisons will move on and out of the system, gently but thoroughly—no gripping—no nausea—no weakness. In the old days people let these run until they needed a large dose of physic, then they took some severe, like castor oil, salts or cathartics, that meant abuse to the bowels. These are the days of the gentle natural—the days of Syrup of Figs. This way you are not drugging yourself. Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna, aromatic can only cause injury. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and for the name of California Fig Syrup Company on the label. This is genuine—old reliable. Any other called Fig Syrup is an imitation, meant to deceive you. Refuse with contempt.

Fine Remedy for A Backward Child

Continue it for Only a Brief Period and the Good Results will surprise you.

HARRY BRUNTY

A low state of the general health is the accepted cause of backwardness in children. So in the case of a backward child it is best to look to the building-up of his health. It will usually be found that the trouble is in the food, in lack of assimilation and digestion. Hence care should be taken in the kind of food given to the child. With plenty of air and exercise should bring about a change for the better.

Watch the conditions of the bowels. Note whether the waste is being passed off or not, or whether it is being passed too freely. If either condition prevails give a small dose of that most reliable of all laxative tonics, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Thousands of mothers will testify to the wonders it has wrought in the lives of their children, and for that reason alone of families like those of Mrs. E. Brunty, 1303 9th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., are never without it in the house. Mrs. Brunty writes: "Harry had always been constipated until I gave him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It certainly going to keep this medicine in the house in future for I now it to be good." It is pleasant to give to infants, and yet is equally effective for grown people. All druggists sell it and the price is only five cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter for families who need it regularly.

Syrup Pepsin has no equal as a cure for constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, liver trouble and kindred complaints. It has so many advantages that those who once use it forever after discard cathartics, salts, pills and other coarse remedies, for they are seldom advisable and should never be given to children.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way a drugist will send you a sample—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

AMUNDSEN'S STORY IN BRIEF

Norwegians are not the only ones who hear Captain Amundsen's lectures with a thrill. The story of his discovery of the south pole will be enjoyed by men with red blood in their veins the world over. It is a well told narrative of the last great spectacular achievement of exploration possible on the earth's surface. It records triumph of brains, brawn and courage that is at least a close second to Peary's in the north, and the unselfish personality of the Norwegian leader adds a pleasant touch that is lacking in the other case.

The first thing that impresses one in his lecture is the good feeling that prevailed among his followers as a result of his own spirit of generosity. He took four other men with him to the pole, shared the hardships and honors, equally, made every one of them take hold of the rope when the Norwegian flag was unfurled at the end of the earth, and in his book is never weary of exhibiting the courage and strength of each. He tells the whole story in the half rollicking spirit of a big boy who has been through a perilous lark with his brothers and is proud of their doings. Yet it was Amundsen's brain and personality that made everything go like clockwork. Nansen is right when he says:

"I can come and prate about luck and chance. Amundsen's luck is that of the strong man who looks ahead. Everything, great and small, was thoroughly thought out, and the plan was splendidly executed. It is the man that matters here, as everywhere."

The expedition sailed from Norway in the summer of 1910 in the Fram, the same vessel in which Nansen had reached his "farthest north." Ninety-seven fine Eskimo dogs populated the whole deck, and their remarkable staying powers were a vital element of success in the sledge journey to the pole.

For his base of operations Captain Amundsen had picked out the one spot, the Bay of Whales, where it was possible for a vessel to get some distance inside the Ross barrier—that impenetrable cliff of ice which stretches along the whole frontier of the antarctic region. Here he arrived in January, 1911, built his houses for winter quarters, most of them underground—that is, carved deep in the ice, with corridors connecting them far beneath the surface and here they spent four months of continuous night in perfect comfort and health, despite the terrific cold, sometimes 70 or 75 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit.

Meanwhile, he and his men and telling dogs had been hauling tons of supplies southward over the barrier ice and establishing "depots" at intervals of four miles along a direct line toward the pole. On October 20, when spring had come (with a "mid" temperature of from 10 to 25 degrees below zero), Amundsen and his four companions set forth, with scarcely a nod of good-bye, on their eventful trip to the pole. They had four sledges, fifty-two dogs and provisions for four months.

On the first day, Blagland's sledge dropped into a crevasse and hung there, suspended in the abyss, but he leaped to safety and hung on to the sledge until help came; then Wisting fastened an Alpine rope around his body and swung into the chasm, while Haavel and Hansen moved about on the bring, hauling up the cases one by one. Wisting from below told them that the cornice they stood on was only a few inches thick—and the bottom, far below, had "immense spikes of ice sticking up everywhere, which would split you before you got very far down" but the information only seemed to whet their interest in the situation.

Incidents of this kind were numerous enough to give zest to the whole journey, especially after they got into the mountains, for these treacherous and hidden ice crevices, hundreds of feet deep, were the chief peril of the antarctic expedition.

One of the apparent ease with which these hardy Norwegians traveled 1,500 miles in ninety days over icy mountains—to the pole and back—was that they were all experts with ski. Another was Amundsen's foresight in erecting beacons of ice, six feet high, every few miles, to guide them on the way back. They built 150 of these beacons, each with a paper in it stating its bearings, and at stated intervals depots were also built, in which cases of provisions were deposited. Thus they reached the pole with little to carry, yet had plenty of supplies all the way back. The only sad part about this was the necessity of killing some of the faithful dogs at each stage. By the time they reached the pole only sixteen dogs were left.

The expedition's first real thrill came on the day when his little party passed 78 degrees, 22 minutes, the latitude which Sir Ernest Shackleton had attained in his brave attempt to reach the pole. Amundsen had told his companions to fly the flag when this latitude was attained. When he suddenly looked back and saw the colors shaken forth into the crisp air his heart came into his mouth. "We were farther south than any human being had been. No moment of the whole trip affected me like this," he confesses in his simple way. "The tears forced their way to my eyes; by no effort of will could I keep them back. It was the flag yonder that conquered me and my will."

Captain Amundsen during journey to pole among high mountains.

"Most of the time they were traveling among mountains, some as high as Pikes Peak, and all covered with snow and glaciers. Captain Amundsen can bring them before the eye, too, as witness this extract:

"Mount Nisen—ah! anything more beautiful, taking it altogether, I have never seen. Peaks of the most varied forms rose high into the air, partly covered with driving clouds. Some were sharp, but most were long and rounded. Here and there one saw bright, shining glaciers plunging wildly down the steep sides and merging into the underlying ground in fearful confusion. But the most remarkable of them all was the bottom of a bowl, covered by an extraordinary ice and snow, which was broken up and disturbed by the blocks of ice bristled in every direction like the quills of a porcupine. It glittered and burned in the sunlight—a glorious spectacle."

There is scarcely a reference to the sufferings of the explorers, but they were marching most of the time into the teeth of a southeast blizzard in below-zero temperatures, and once the author mentions that the left side of their faces "was one mass of sore, bathed in matter and serum; we looked like the worst kind of ruffians and would probably not have been recognized by our nearest relatives. The slightest gust of wind produced a sensation as if one's face were being cut backward and forward with a blunt knife."

The south pole, in the midst of a vast high plain, was reached December 14, 1911. How it was located by repeated observations of the sun in the next three days must be read in Captain Amundsen's book. He states also his frank confession that his life's ambition really had been to reach the north pole, and here he was far away from it as he could get. But "pride and affection" drove him on. Five pairs of eyes that gazed upon the flag, as it unfurled itself with a sharp crack and waved over the pole. One wonders whether Captain Scott and his British expedition have found that flag by this time—and what their sensations are if they have.

Never in the history of the city has the opportunity of hearing such a wonderful story being given our people. Seat sale for Captain Amundsen's lecture at "The Burns" March 12, now on.

Impression caused by the child's genius.

The great gifts with which Elman was born have made possible that exquisite tone and the wonderful expressiveness of his playing which can cause his audience to laugh or weep. Tone and expression come from the mind, and must be imagined before they can be realized. Elman seems to have surpassed anyone of his generation in this ability to conceive beautiful effects, and his technique has been developed until it is amply able to realize the wonderful things which his mind has thought.

Mr. Elman plays in Colorado Springs next Tuesday evening at The Burns under the management of Willet R. Willis.

Death and Burial

FORMER SPRINGS MAN IS KILLED IN MEXICO

Charles Fremont Fraker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Fraker, 1615 North Royce street, was accidentally killed in a railroad construction camp near Madero, state of Chihuahua, Mex., several weeks ago, according to word received here by the parents. Mr. Fraker was 56 years old and was a resident of Colorado Springs until seven years ago, when he went to Mexico. The family are among the oldest residents of the city, having come here in 1873.

According to a letter received from J. W. Reynolds, superintendent of the construction camp where Fraker was killed, the latter wished to be buried near the spot where he was killed.

LONDON GIRLS OPEN AT

THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE

At the Grand Opera house, opening Monday, March 10, on off dates, will be seen tabloid musical productions. Policy will be musical comedy and motion pictures. Colorado Springs will have its first musical stock company in tabloid productions. The management has secured as the opening attraction, "The London Girls" in "The King of Alabazoo," a laugh-producers from start to finish with plenty of "catch" music and song. Opening Thursday, March 13, this company will appear in "Night in Paris," a rattling musical farce with new music and comedy. These miniature musical comedies are in one act, running from 15 to 20 minutes, presented by a company of 12 people. The play will be changed twice weekly with the motion pictures changed daily. Three matinees will be offered weekly, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Two performances each evening, 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

The tabloid stock companies at exceptionally low prices have proven a wonderful success throughout the larger eastern cities and no doubt will be a big success in Colorado Springs.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, March 4.—Signs that abundant harvest would be the small crop in years had a bearish effect today on wheat. Closing prices, though firm, were 1/2 to 1/4 under last night. Corn showed a net loss to 1/4. Oats finished unchanged to 1/4 lower and provisions at a decline of 2/4 to 2/8.

According to leading authority, so little winter damage had been done to wheat that it was not unlikely the harvest for this season might range between 1,000,000 and 3,000,000 acres larger than a year ago. South-west dispatches were especially bearish. Kansas points in particular reporting every indication of a bumper crop because of the snowfall of the last five days. Cleveland sent word of not having a single serious crop complaint the entire winter.

Expected heavy receipts at Minneapolis added to the weakness of wheat. One row alone was said to have orders for 500 cars to get shipments out of western Minnesota and North Dakota to escape taxes. Bearish feeling, however, exhausted itself when news came that export sales had been made for a shipment by way of the Gulf. A moderate rally due largely to shorts realizing profits took place as trading came to an end.

Total clearance of wheat and flour equivalent, 255,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat were 55,000 bushels, against 345,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn suffered through sympathy with wheat. Millions of bushels on track in Chicago, switching district had a further depressing influence and so also did bearish predictions regarding the government statement next Monday as to farm reserves. Despite some aggressive selling, oats were held steady by commission house support.

Stop loss selling of provisions resulted from a break in the hog market. Later there was fair buying credited to interests at the stock yards.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 4.—Wall street's chief interest today was the progress of events at Washington. So far, as was revealed by the stock market, the barometer of sentiment in the financial district, the coming into power of the Democratic administration on the occasion of shifting of position, for the market was dull and narrow most of the day.

The street saw nothing in the inaugural address of President Wilson of awakened apprehension. Definite indications of the attitude of the administration on matters of concern in the financial district are awaited with eagerness. In the absence of such indications today the market was permitted to drift. As the day progressed the tone became heavier. A few of the prominent stocks, including Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, St. Paul, Standard Oil, Amalgamated and Smelting, lost a point or so. Selling was at no time heavy, however.

The market missed the sustaining influence of the recent European buying. London did little in this market. Berlin sold Canadian Pacific, which lost nearly three points. Foreign markets were less cheerful. German bankers were again in this market today, offering 5 per cent for 30-day money, "exchange guaranteed."

Traction stocks enjoyed no further rise on the strength of the approval of the subway contract, which was discounted in yesterday's quick upturn. New Haven, which still feels the effect of its poor January statement, fell to 12 1/2. The lowest for a quarter of a century. American Van Products, against which suit was instituted yesterday, fell 7 points.

Bonds were irregular, with further heaviness of course, but no issues. Total sales, par value, $2,157,000. United States bonds, unchanged on call.

A Better Dining Room for you at $43.50

During March we shall undermark a few pieces of very choice furniture that have been on our floors an entire season.

You could examine them alongside newly received stock, and could not detect the difference. They are perfect in every way.

But our money has been invested in these pieces long enough. We will, therefore, give you our profit on any of these articles in order to release the cash.

This is an unusual opportunity, as furniture of this quality rarely is offered at such reduction.

LEGISLATURE PASSES FEW BILLS ON SECOND READING

SENATE, March 4.—The senate tonight passed on second reading the Burris full train crew bill, amended so that an extra brakeman would be compulsory only when the train consisted of 35 cars.

The senate also passed the Robinson women's minimum wage bill on second reading. The bill provides for a commission to arbitrate between a woman and her employer in wage disputes.

The corporation committee of the house attempted to hold a meeting tonight to consider the public utilities bill. Only four members were present at the meeting and it was adjourned.

POCKET VETO IS USED BY TAFT ON SEAMAN'S BILL

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Although President Taft exercised the pocket veto in expressing disapproval of the seamen's servitude bill, he left with congress a short memorandum giving his views of the measure. The memorandum said:

"This bill is so important and conflicts in its operation with the treaty obligations of the United States and in its possible friction with the commerce of foreign countries that in the short time I have had since it has been presented to me, I do not feel justified in assuming the responsibility of allowing it to become a law."

The bill was designed to improve conditions of labor and living in the American merchant marine and to abolish involuntary servitude of seamen.

He was taken to St. Francis hospital for treatment.

Boosters, Attention! Meeting Thursday night at 7:30, Room 12, Chamber of Commerce Bldg.

SETTLE GOVT. CASE AGAINST PACKERS

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The government's $1,000,000 claim against Chicago packers and others for taxes alleged due on colored oleomargarine sold as uncolored was compromised today by Secretary MacVeagh for $102,000. A spirited controversy surrounded these cases. United States District Judge Landis started a grand jury investigation, which later was suspended pending the treasury department's action. The house committee on expenditures in the treasury department also inquired into the subject.

The compromise was made, it is explained here, because the government had no evidence to sustain the $1,000,000 claim. One hundred and two thousand dollars, it is added, was all the government could hope to get even through litigation. The treasury held that a test case was impracticable because it could not be decided for two or three years, and in any event the government could not expect to sustain anything approaching its maximum claim.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Daily that Every Man Owe to Those who Perpetrate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood that relieve all tension upon the muscles and enable them to expend without the painful strain upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided all those nervous spells, the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted, and a bright, sunny, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the character and temperament of the little one soon to open its eyes in bewilderment at the joy of its arrival. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00, and it will be the best dollar's worth you ever obtained. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a quick and complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Regulator Co., 120 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers. Get a bottle of Mother's Friend today.

FUNERAL FOR RELATIVE AS MARSHALL INAUGURATED

QUINCY, Ill., March 4.—At almost the same time that Vice President Thomas R. Marshall was inaugurated today, funeral services were conducted for one of his nearest relatives at La Grange, Mo., 10 miles north of this place, the boyhood home of Mr. Marshall. It was the funeral of Miss Callie Marshall, aged 77, a cousin, who died at Duncan, Okla., last Saturday.

George Wentz, Philadelphia, recently broke his back. Surgeons successfully repaired it with silver wire.
